

Review of: "A case of Ceftriaxone-induced immune thrombocytopenia: A diagnostic and therapeutic dilemma"

Fatemeh Malek¹

¹ Shahid Beheshti University of Medical Sciences

Potential competing interests: None to declare

Dear authors

Your article is noteworthy and exciting, But what you have mentioned is heparin-induced thrombocytopenia. Due to the definitions, this term doesn't match your patient, and you have no reason to think about HIT in a patient without history of receiving heparin