I reviewed the article entitle "Analysis of Factors Influencing Health and Safety Program in Selected Electricity Distribution Companies".

However the whole study was so interesting, there are some concerns as below:

- 1) The introduction part is nearly appropriate, but it is also suggested for the authors to discuss on the problem more clearly. Especially, introduce some figures.
- 2) The "Methodology" section: it is better to introduce the Taro Yamane method.
- 3) It will be more interesting that the authors fairly discuss about the results and compare those results with similar studies, in order to exceed the validity and reliability of results.
- 4) I myself! was looking for the findings related to health- literacy and quality of life in this regards. So for future studies I proposed fairly to the authors to investigate these two variables in their setting.

Best regards
