

Review of: "Sustainable entrepreneurial ecosystems in developing economies: A conceptualisation of complex adaptive systems approach"

DrRafif Prof.Dr.Rafif

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Dear authors,

You have dedicated significant effort to analyzing sustainable entrepreneurial ecosystems in developing economies. However, there are some recommendations to enhance the overall quality of your paper. Firstly, it is important to note that developing countries exhibit variations in their social and economic conditions, as well as their development levels. Therefore, it is recommended that you provide more specific analysis to account for these differences.

Secondly, it would have been beneficial to incorporate both quantitative and qualitative analysis. This combination would have allowed for a more comprehensive conceptualization of the topic, grounded in concrete perspectives and data.

Thirdly, the methodology should be explained in a more precise and appropriate manner. This will facilitate other researchers in following your study's methodology, should they wish to replicate or build upon your work.

Fourthly, it is advisable to include a section discussing the limitations of your study and potential avenues for future research. Recognizing the limitations helps to provide a clearer understanding of the scope and potential biases of your research, while outlining future work guides researchers in further exploring the subject.

Lastly, it is recommended that you remove the reference from your conclusion. The conclusion should summarize your findings and key points without explicitly citing references.

Thank you for considering these recommendations to improve the overall quality of your paper.