Hello. I am trying to determine what revisions were made and cannot do so easily. Please provide a brief response summary of what revisions were integrated and where based on each of my comments to facilitate my review of the revised document. Redline revisions can be extremely helpful as well. Some revisions (e.g., study significance in the introduction) seem not to have been made whatsoever. Peer review, as I see it, entails responding to all reviewer comments either through revision or a compelling rationale for not making the recommended change. This revision will take extensive work. Feel free to take the time that's needed. Best wishes.
