

Review of: "Supply Chain Fraud Prediction with Machine Learning and Artificial intelligence"

Shabarinath Bb¹

¹ National Institute of Technology, Warangal

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper explores various classification techniques to predict supply chain fraud. Paper lacks Novelty. The parameters you have compared is based on which data? (training or testing). How you solve the issue of overfitting and underfitting? How do you tune hyperparameters? Spent lot of paper for explaining the content already available in the literature..