

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Craniosynostosis

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base.

Craniosynostosis. ORPHA:1531

Craniosynostosis is defined as the premature fusion of one or more cranial sutures leading to secondary distortion of skull shape resulting in skull deformities with a variable presentation. Craniosynostosis may occur in an isolated setting or as part of a syndrome.