Dear Tom,

Congratulations for being studying this subject! Please, find below some comments for improving your paper.

In general, the resilience literature review is atualized and maybe you could consider these aspects:

In the introduction, you could review the aim of the paper highlighting the most important contribution that has been studied in your research.

Then, in both sections "Resilience to an Existential Crisis and Resilience vs. Sustainability", you could introduce some updated references to make clear the comparison between the different perspectives in both subjects.

In the Section: The Covid-19 Crisis: I suggest introducing the investigation into the different effects of the Covid-19 pandemic in Global Core and Periphery countries.

Finally, you could analyse some data in your paper to consolidate " the focus is on the socioeconomic consequences and opportunities arising in an existential crisis", The socioeconomic aspects could be analyzed in a theoretical way or based on data analysis.
