

Review of: "Examining Sustainable Survival Tactics for Small-Scale Bakeries: A Case Study in Lagos State"

Carlos Napoleón Pereyra Mariñez

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper make case study of survival tactics for small-scale bakeries in Lagos State, Nigeria.

The abstract presents the objectives, methods, and key findings.

The introduction focuses directly on the relevance of small-scale industries in Nigeria, the specific challenges faced by bakeries, and the importance of understanding their survival strategies.

Recommendations to enhance this work:

Expand on the review by including more recent scholarly sources that focus on small-scale industries in developing economies, specifically in the baking or food production sector.

Consider visual aids such as graphs, tables, or charts to present data for better clarity and comprehension.