Review of: "Side effects of COVID-19 vaccination in Pakistani population: A cross sectional study"

Maria Cristina Carrondo[1]

1 Instituto Politécnico de Coimbra

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article addresses an interesting, current and important topic in the context of public health.

The introduction is well outlined with reference to other studies.

The methods and methodology are well described. The authors resort to univariate and multivariate analysis. The variables used in the study are appropriate to the purpose of the study. The presentation of tables and graphs allows for an easy and comprehensive reading.

The description of the results meets the objective of the work.

The discussion is well elaborated and confronts the results of the study with other works.

The conclusion is succinct and correctly concludes the results of the study.