

Review of: "Antimicrobial Ayurveda Crops as Superfoods for Export, Conservation & Farmers' Benefit"

Abhay Kumar Choubey<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Rajiv Gandhi Institute of Petroleum Technology

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Review Report

Title of the Manuscript

Antimicrobial Ayurveda Crops as Superfoods for Export, Conservation & Farmer's Benefit

Review of the Manuscript

Observations

1. Both the authors have chosen a very interesting topic for their in-depth study.
2. In the title and text of the manuscript, & should be mentioned as and.
3. In the text between Table 1 and Table 2 of the manuscript, Carlson et al should be written as either Carlson et al., or Carlson and co-workers.
4. The title of Table 1 should be suggested as Phytochemicals in Potential Superfoods.
5. Minor grammatical errors are present in the manuscript and need removal.
6. The quality of the figure is proper and good in the manuscript.

After going through this manuscript carefully, it was found that this review work is very interesting and meaningful. I have not checked the plagiarism part due to unavailability of the tool.

I suggest considering the removal of minor grammatical errors for this manuscript's acceptance in this reputed journal for publication.