The work is interesting and also well written. However, I have few minor comments, which may be addressed in the revised version:

1. Abstract is not sound due to lack of data in the result section. I would suggest the authors to include some data from the result section in the abstract. At present, it looks more theoretical.
2. Result section should be more elaborated in the text and result presented in the table/figs should be highlighted in form of text for proper understanding of the readers.
3. In the discussion section, few recent studies published in the area of work should be discussed properly, which I think is missing in the present form.
