

Review of: "Climate Change and Sustainability: A Comparative Case Study"

Samuel Idowu¹

¹ Caleb University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

There is need to set a background for the study, highlighting features of both countries and justifying basis for their choice for comparison.

Also, steps and policies advanced by both countries require data to underscore the past and current position.

A section highlighting both similarity and differences in policy direction, measures and other steps be created.