

Review of: "[Perspective] The study of Safety of Inpatient Health Care needs to include adverse event rates from venous and urinary catheters"

Mohammed Aljanabi¹

¹ University of Kufa

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article highlights the importance of studying the safety of inpatient health care and the adverse events associated with medical procedures such as the insertion and use of venous and urinary catheters. Overall, the article provides important information on the risks associated with catheter use and highlights the need for improved monitoring and safety protocols in hospitals.