

Review of: "[Commentary] COVID-19 and Alzheimer's disease, closely related?"

Mariana Bendersky<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> University of Buenos Aires

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It is an interesting article in that it reviews possible links between risk biomarkers for Alzheimer's disease, such as OAS1 and APO4 haplotypes, and long term neuropsychiatric manifestations related to Sars-CoV2. The authors discuss this possible association in detail, as well as the amyloidogenic potential of the S protein. I'm looking forward to seeing more studies on this subject.