

Review of: "Rebuilding a 'Greater Russia' and the Russian Invasion of Ukraine"

Najimdeen Bakare¹

¹ National University of Science and Technology

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The piece demonstrates a good historical reconstruction of Russia's past and present and the impetuses that drive its geo-strategic conducts. Having said that, the piece equally raises cogent and apparent questions, (1) is rebuilding greater Russia bad for Moscow (2) what geo-strategic consequence does it constitute and (3) more importantly, what could or can be done to truncate or combat the challenge.