This is an interesting piece of work. However, it can be improved with the following suggestions:

1. The current status of nutrition in adolescents in Rwanda should be clearly indicated in terms of magnitude. References are important.
2. What has the Rwandan government done in terms of adolescent nutrition? In other sectors, are there success stories that can be emulated when focusing on adolescent nutrition?
3. What is the role of other partners?
4. For the 10 points of call for action highlighted, the magnitude of the problem should have come out clearly in order to warrant this call for action.
5. How does Rwanda compare in terms of adolescent nutrition with other countries in the region? This will give a comprehensive story that culminates in the need for action.
