The article is still written globally. The paper would sharpen if you revised several items like:

- The main issue and research question that you will solve through the method and analyze the results

- The Idea of problem solving : how could you identify an ancient trail with the characteristic topography on images

- Data (was mentioned already, very clear)

- You need to outline the method ; why did you choose the methods mentioned in the paper, what is the role of one and the other in achieving the research objectives; what is the role of the macro-micro scale?

- What can be used as validation to determine the quality of the results
