

Review of: "The Political Ecologies of the Tonle Sap: Global, Regional and National Framework for Conservation and Development"

Magdalena Petronella Swart¹

¹ University of South Africa

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I had a look at the manuscript and feel a little out of my depth to provide a constructive review. Overall the article was written well and the Institutional Framework for Tonle Sap Governance provide a valuable insight for conservation and development. However, I have found of the majority of the cited literature to be dates and I wonder if more recent work was published in this field? I apologise for not being able to give more feedback on the study, as this is not my area of expertise.