

Review of: "“Same team, different colours”: Examining the association between shared identity and interoperability in multi-agency discussion-based exercises"

Marcio Pereira Basilio<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universidade Federal Fluminense

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare. The work is well structured. The questions presented are pertinent. The methodology used was adequate. The discussion and conclusions are well developed. I would only suggest broadening the literature review a little more, focusing on research with up to five years of publication and extending the review to between 50 and 60 references.

The work is well structured. The questions presented are pertinent. The methodology used was adequate. The discussion and conclusions are well developed. I would only suggest broadening the literature review a little more, focusing on research with up to five years of publication and extending the review to between 50 and 60 references.