

Review of: "[Perspective] Glucolipotoxicity: A Novel Different Perspective on the Causes of Cancer"

Jéssica Abel da Silva<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universidade do Extremo Sul Catarinense

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article talks about a new perspective on the cause of cancer.

However, some authors have already reported very similar information. For this reason, this article needs to be better explored.

- According to the authors' opinion, how does the imbalance in glycolipid metabolism begin? That would be an interesting approach to describe.
- As we are talking about metabolisms/metabolic pathways... it would be very valuable to insert a descriptive figure with the terms mentioned.
- In addition, in item 5, it was said about "in our results..." and it was not clear what these results were, from the bibliographic review carried out or are there data from experimental research as well?