The article sheds light on the approaches of Fazlur Rahman and his contributions to establish a link between the Neo-Sufi paradigm and contemporary challenges. Rahman's treatment of Sufi thought is deeply explained by emphasising modern philosophical currents, various discourses in the contemporary world. The article is quite valuable in terms of understanding Rahman's stance toward Sufi understanding. Additionally, it would be useful to mention the contributions of Rahman toward Islamic reform movements because his period witnessed the emergence of reform movements. Evaluating the connection between his spiritual opinions and reform ideas can provide a more comprehensive interpretation to understand the influence of the Neo-Sufi paradigm.
