

Review of: "Does a 'Creativity Crisis' Truly Exist Among Science Learners?"

Karthigeyan Subramaniam¹

¹ University of North Texas

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Overall¹, the manuscript is well-articulated. Areas for improvement or further discussion include:

1. Explain what is meant by "the creative potential of science learners"
2. Explain what is meant by "The participants were science teachers teaching at various educational institutes." - what is the context of educational institutes?
3. Implications for teacher education and further research needs to be discussed.