Review of: "Revisiting Enron twenty years later: Eight executive blind spots worth remembering"

Kun Luo

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This paper is a bit like a book review, lacking academic relevance, a deep understanding of culture, a lack of construction and use of the Four Frame Model, a lack of data validation, and a single Enron case study is difficult to illustrate the problem.