Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The abstract lacks clarity and does not mirror the study. The introduction is very long. A one pager showing the gap being solved would help. No need of the elaborate literature review. This is very long.

Methodology on the sample size determination and sampling strategy is not very clear. Which tool was used in data analysis... What was the data analysis plan??

Let the results only speak about the results. Part of the results are talking about the study tools.

The findings are so descriptive. Was there qualitative data?? What were the findings???

Let the recommendation be specific and actionable and should be in relation to the gap. But the analysis done may not give us the evidence-based recommendation.
