Open Peer Review on Qeios

Corneal Stroma

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Corneal Stroma. NCI Thesaurus. Code C12699.

The thickest layer of corneal tissue, composed of collagen fibrils, that is located between the epithelium and the inner endothelium, and extends from behind Bowman's layer to in front of Descement's membrane.