

Review of: "Psychiatric Diagnostic Classification System Based on New Forms of Parenting Practices: an Invite for a Rethink"

Hassan Mirza¹

¹ Sultan Qaboos University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper under review presents a thoughtful exploration of the relationship between parenting styles and children's mental health. The author contributes to the field with insightful analyses of potential risk factors and interventions. The writing is engaging, and the content is relevant, making it a piece worthy of wider dissemination. This work is highly recommended for publication based on its depth and quality.