The overall work has framed very nicely. However, the following suggestions could improve the readability of the work after publication.

1. The abstract part should improve by clearly mentioning the technical attributes which has done in the work.
2. In the introduction part some novel work associated with the related work should include and what those works were lacking in which is improved in this work should be highlighted clearly in the novelty part.
3. The extended real environment test results must also include in the paper.
4. The proposed work should compare with the recently published work associated with the improved parameters in this work.
