

Review of: "Leveraging Fine-Tuned Large Language Models in Bioinformatics: A Research Perspective"

Jhinuk Chatterjee<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Pes University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Author should include contextual information regarding language models in different application areas of Bioinformatics. Case studies in application areas where large language models are used will enhance scientific merit of the paper. It can be an interesting short scoping review if properly revised with required information.