

Review of: "An approach to the background, methods and challenges of research in disasters"

Nikhitha Adepu¹

¹ University of Texas at Arlington

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Please be clear in regard to the research gap and moreover, why the study directed towards results section instead of a section on exploring the historical background of disaster research, the current use of epidemiological methods in disasters, as well as the difficulties and future challenges of research in this field. It might be apt to identify and then discuss.