

Review of: "[Review Article] A Comprehensive Overview on Pharmacological and Therapeutic Insights of Solanum nigrum Linn"

Thamere Cheriet¹

¹ Université Mentouri Constantine

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The authors proposed a well-written paper.

However, I have some remarks about this review paper, starting with:

1. In my opinion, authors must add more isolated molecules in section 2 (traditional uses and phytochemistry) because presenting a review with only 6 molecules is too weak, even if these are the major constituents of the agents responsible for the biological properties. I suggest you to add more isolated compounds (all of them if it is possible, and I think it is).
2. The quality of the figures containing isolated compounds is bad; you must put all the structures in one figure with the same size.
3. When you read the third section, you can't feel the effort of writing something interesting; it's like just presenting the results of each paper in separate paragraphs, and this is not good at all. Authors must ameliorate and rewrite this section completely.

In this format, I don't suggest this paper to be published in the journal; they must ameliorate it.

Best regards,