This paper is very clearly managed on the discussion of the contents- make the flow of discussion easy to followed.

The problem background well elaborate.

However, some ideas of improvement may help to make this finding more significant and interesting to share/ learn with other by such as considering the following:

- (i) the determination of the construct for dependent and independent variables should elaborate together in the paper
- (ii) the development of hypothesis (null hypotheses) should not have the directive finding. The best is to test the null hypotheses with general indicators.

if still need to address null hypothesis with that approaches (written hypotheses)- author need elaboration on the discussion of directions of the hypotheses finding.
