

Review of: "Analyzing the Science of Apple Juice: Insights Into Production, Preservation, and Health Effects"

Michele Utpoott¹

¹ Universidade Federal do Rio Grande do Sul

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article comprehensively addresses the benefits of consuming apple juice, focusing on the sensorial and nutritional quality of the product. However, the writing style for a scientific article should be more technical and less poetic. Also, the description of the forms of processing and preservation is very superficial and not technical, and could be better explored. Thus, the proposal of the review article and its objectives, emphasized in the abstract, are not fulfilled satisfactorily. The emerging trends need to be more better described, emphasized, and explored. Still, the conclusion needs to be better written. As a review article, it needs to show its potential and differential to be published.