

Review of: "Biological Components in Cucumbers (Cucumis Sativus L.): Implications for Pickle Manufacturing and Health Benefits in Fresh and Processed Varieties"

Chamari Hettiarachchi¹

¹ University of Colombo

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I have gone through the review article. It is very informative. It looks like a mini-review. By improving the following aspects, it can be accepted for publication.

The author can improve the literature review by including more information from articles of the last few years (2020 – 2024). Very little information from recent articles is included. Also, critically discuss the information gathered. There are a few editorial mistakes in the article. Please correct them. Table 1 can be presented in a more attractive way.