The paper needs major revisions. The need for the research is understood, however the paper's presentation needs major overhaul to meet the standards of internationally published papers. The abstract is vague and difficult to understand. There is text in the introduction which needs referencing. The methodology section is vague and could be streamlined better. For example the author suggest they sought ethics approval - it is not clear whether this was actually granted! If there any ethics approval number including it will be better. The discussion and conclusion also need rewriting as they are not easy to understand and at points it is difficult to make out what the authors are trying to say.
