

Review of: "The Impact on People's Well-being of Utilizing Greenery in the Design of High-rise Residential Building Balconies"

Aysha Hanif¹

¹ Lahore College for Women University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Dear authors,

The research idea is interesting and a new approach to assess the impact of greenery. The paper is drafted in a constructive way and is much relevant to a scenario-based case study. I would like to suggest that the socio-economic conditions of the people should also be compared to assess the impact of greenery, as the accessibility to greenery also has a strong impact on the well-being of people. Overall, it is a good-quality paper that gives insight into the importance of greenery on people's well-being.