Dear Researchers

your new version added more clarity to my vision toward your research.

still I have some questions and recommendations

1- is the following information from some reference world? or it is result achieved from your research?

"with around 1 in 10 people affected at any one time" in another words; are researchers provides samples of humans. then apply their approach test and analysis on the samples then got that information? or it is info. found at some world knowledge reference?

2- I think you can titled section B as Analysis Results and Discussions

3- I think you can free your C section from any testing as well as examples. and remove all them into B section

4- I think you can give your abstract more computer science vision than healthcare vision.

you have good aim which is clear.

I think you can abstract your motivation which is healthcare vision. Then showing your methodologies which is computer science- AI branch "as I think"-. Then you can show your result which as I think " your methodologies perfect in achieving your aim".

best wishes to you
