This article is very interesting, but a few notes to this article:

- a. In the introduction: only focuses on research areas, does not show a similar culture in other regions in Indonesia or in the world. The references used are also few in the introduction.
- b. Methods are not well presented. It is not explained in the literature review, how many references are used, what are the types of references. In addition, the authors conducted interviews, but did not explain further how many sources and what was asked of the sources. How is the analysis of the interview results?
- c. Results and discussion: already focused and good, just haven't included the results of your interview.
