

Review of: "Nigeria's Implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals"

Michel André Bouchard¹

¹ Polytechnique Montréal

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This is a comprehensive and useful review of reviews and, globally, a very promising paper. The structure of the paper could be lightened by more extensive use of tables and enriched by extended discussions about the impediments to sustainability in order to avoid the impression of being an administrative report on SDG plans. Although the authors point to a number of problems such as corruption as major obstacles to the achievement of SDGs, these are treated as "independant variables," while they are likely interrelated and probably bear different weights intrinsically. The paper could benefit as well from a brief discussion on how the array of variables (poverty, terrorism, corruption, etc.) was determined.