Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The evaluation of the manuscript is based on the following four components:

1- Unacceptable 2- Acceptable 3- Good 4- Very good

1- The title of the manuscript: it is good.

2- Abstract and keyword: It is expressed in an average level.

3- The structure of the manuscript does not follow the global structure very well. But we can accept this implementation method of the author.

4- Introduction and methods of obtaining process information: almost the presented parts of the urban context are average.

5- Editing of the manuscript: it is well expressed.

6- Results and discussion: It is well expressed.

7- Result: It is expressed a little weakly. In other words, the author did not confidently present a good result of the three processes of the urban context of the target area of the research. But the manuscript of the honorable author can be accepted.

8- Reference: It is acceptable.

The relationship between the three urban spaces (three types of textures) that are the object of the research and the forms and process correlations are acceptable to some extent. In general, this manuscript can provide a behavioral-civilizational pattern for the future of new researchers by filling in the weaknesses.
