

Review of: "Exploiting Structure: A Survey and Analysis of Structures and Hardness Measures for Propositional Formulas"

N J¹

¹ Ningbo University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Certain structures or properties of a formula can greatly accelerate the computation of SAT problems, thus the research work in this article is highly valuable, but it would be ideal to include some practical examples to illustrate its ideas and methods, and further this effort can be applied for some modal logic formulas?