

Review of: "Women In Slum Risking Their Safety To Access And Usage Of Basic Water And Sanitation Facilities"

Tuğba Dündar¹

¹ Adnan Menderes University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The topic of the article is highly current and significant. The introduction section is written in a simple and understandable manner. However, there are some deficiencies in the methodology section. The criteria for selecting the reviewed articles, the search engines used, the specific keywords employed, and the time frame within which the search was conducted have not been addressed in the methodology section. The discussion has been presented solely as a literature summary, without addressing the research's own findings.