

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Combined immunodeficiency due to MALT1 deficiency

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base. Combined immunodeficiency due to MALT1 deficiency. ORPHA:397964

Combined immunodeficiency due to MALT1 deficiency is a rare, genetic form of primary immunodeficiency characterized by growth retardation, early recurrent pulmonary infections leading to bronchiectasis, inflammatory gastrointestinal disease, and other symptoms, such as rash, dermatitis, skin infections.