

Review of: "Lexico-Syntactic Study of English Usage in Online News Responses and Their Implications for 21st-Century Pedagogy"

Mücahit Soylu¹

¹ İnönü University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

You can relate your findings tightly to the main context of how language diversity in Nigeria affects learners' use of Standard English. You should provide more detailed information about the analysis of the data. You should indicate how teachers can be prepared to explain to students the differences between local language variations and Standard English.