Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Hypotheses and questions should be included at the end of the theoretical framework.

In addition, writing in English must be improved.

Regarding the methodology, it should better describe the data, including other sociodemographic variables such as age, educational level, etc., as well as mention the method used to process missing data.

Regarding the data analysis section, it is discussed in two parts of the article; it should appear only once. Likewise, more information is missing from the statistical analyses carried out, since some more appear in the results.

As for the results, they should be better written.
