

Review of: "Machine Learning Methods in Algorithmic Trading: An Experimental Evaluation of Supervised Learning Techniques for Stock Price"

Raymundo Díaz Robles<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Tec de Monterrey

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It is recommended to at least partially open the code on GitHub, as well as to specify the criteria for selecting the trial and training periods, as well as the overall study period, their selection criteria, and proposals for new lines of research in the combination of variables that can influence the model, such as macroeconomic indicators.