INTRODUCTION AND LITERATURE

Substantiate claims, for instance: "Some socio-cultural factors, in addition to age, seem to influence women's decision-making capacity in relation to the decision-making process in household matters."

This is a sweeping statement: Status of women in a society is perhaps the most valuable indicator of the level of social justice/injustice in that society. Substantiate the claim.

More recent literature should be consulted and cited. Theoretical approach and Conceptual dimension Headings should be taken away from the methodology. Do a proper literature review add appropriate headings as Theoretical approach and Conceptual frameworks.

METHODS

Review the methodology section and add the appropriate design for your study. Support the adopted methods with literature.

DISCUSSION

More literature, especially recent one should be cited to support or contrast findings.
