Dear Author,

I sincerely thank you for sending me the manuscript for my consideration.

After careful review, I regret to inform you that the article presents problems of clarity and coherence, making it difficult for the reader to understand. In addition, the structure of the article does not follow a logical and organized line, compromising the fluidity of the reading. The introduction and methodology topics need greater clarity and organization. In the introduction, the first paragraph should better contextualize the topic addressed, the second paragraph should provide a literature review, the third paragraph should identify the gaps in the object of study, and the last paragraph should present the objective of the study. In the methodology, it is necessary to include specific paragraphs on the study design, population and sample, data collection, research instruments, data analysis, and the statistics used.

I suggest that you review and restructure the article, considering the areas mentioned above. If you wish, you can resubmit it for a new evaluation after the necessary revisions.
