

Review of: "Generic Competences in University Students from Barranquilla, Colombia"

Víctor Hugo Fernández Bedoya¹

¹ Universidad César Vallejo

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The methodology is deficient; it requires further elaboration on the following aspects:

1. What career do the students in the population study?
2. Was a sample calculated?
3. Were there any data missing due to student refusal or absence?
4. Was informed consent obtained from the participants in the sample?
5. Did your institution's ethics committee approve the study?
6. When was the data collected?
7. Was the data collection conducted in-person or virtually, or how specifically?
8. Which version of SPSS was used? IBM SPSS Statistics or IBM SPSS AMOS?
9. For what purposes were descriptive statistics and frequency distribution employed, and what data did they show?

The provided information lacks sufficient detail on these critical aspects of the methodology, and further elaboration is needed to ensure clarity and completeness in the research process.