

Peer Review

Review of: "Sustainability in the Hotel Sector: A Research Study in Greece"

Zoltán Bujdosó¹

1. Department of Sustainable Tourism, Hungarian University of Agriculture and Life Sciences, MATE, Hungary

The study deals with a current topic; one of the important issues of our time is sustainability in hotels.

The study focuses on the sample area of Greece.

The abstract is concise and clearly summarizes the purpose, methodology, and results of the study.

I suggest a brief literature overview related to the topic and an overview of the field of sustainable hotel management in the introductory chapter. I also suggest inserting a short methodology chapter.

The Discussion chapter is clear; however, I suggest providing data to support the statements. I suggest placing tables and figures in the text.

The summary chapter is clear.

Declarations

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.