

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Autosomal recessive nail dysplasia

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base. Autosomal recessive nail dysplasia. ORPHA:280654

Autosomal recessive nail dysplasia is a rare, isolated nail anomaly characterized by claw-shaped, thick, hyperplastic, hard and hyperpigmented nails, subungual hyperkeratosis, onycholysis and slow nail growth. Variable degree of disease severity has been reported.